

aime, aimai, aimais, aimerai, aimerais,
aimes, aimas, aimeras, aima, aimait, aimera,
aimerait, aimâmes, aimions, aimerons,
aimerions, aimâtes, aimiez, aimerez, aimeriez,
aiment, aimèrent, aimaient, aimeront,
aimeraient, aimons, aimez, aimasse,
aimasses, aimât, aimassions, aimassiez,
aimassent...

Who knew love could be so complicated?

And in French yet. (They are the forms of the verb “to love,” minus some duplicates.) In fact, if you study almost any national language, you’ll need conjugations like this or something just as complicated.

But if you learn Esperanto... you’ll never need it.

Only six verb endings for all verbs
(ami, amis, amas, amos, amu, amus).

Four noun endings.

Regular.

Phonetic.

Simple facts: (800) ESPERANTO (800-377-3726)

Esperanto League for North America, Inc.

PO Box 1129, El Cerrito CA 94530

www.esperanto-usa.org or info@esperanto-usa.org

(By the way... that’s just French’s first conjugation. There are three more.
Plus irregular verbs. Are you sure you need it?)

Esperanto: the international language that works!